

Brenda Rossi

Brenda is a certified John C. Maxwell Life & Leadership Coach with a passion for coaching others to find their true voice and leadership abilities. It's her belief, based on her own experience and with working with others, that the development of the leader in each of us, helps all of us.

Her desire to see people succeed in life is what characterized her management and leadership style while working in the financial services industry for years. After a self-imposed "time-out" to be a stay-at-home mom, Brenda re-entered the work force determined to help women succeed in life, professionally and personally.

To do this Brenda went back to college and earned a degree in Leadership and Organizational Studies from Saint Mary's College of Moraga, California. She did this while being a single mom to her twin boys, sharing the same table and doing homework together.

It is her passion for leadership and her desire to see women embrace their unique leadership potential that led her to become a certified Life & Leadership Coach with John C. Maxwell. With John's team Brenda had the unique experience of teaching transformative leadership to leaders in Guatemala as well as working with leaders from around the United States. Having two "almost" teenagers has led her to pursue working with Jr. High and High School students; encouraging them in their personal growth as leaders within their peer group and communities. She has spoken to leaders from around the world as well as to leaders here locally.