

Dori Rubin

Dori is founder and principal of West End Partners, a firm that designs and delivers custom leadership programs and executive coaching engagements for corporate clientele. She also serves as the Midwest Area Manager for WOMEN Unlimited, Inc., where she supports Corporate Partners and the participant experience.

Dori brings over 15 years of experience in the field, with perspective on the client side. For ten years in Time Warner's Global Organization & Leadership Development group, she was responsible for enterprise-wide leadership and learning initiatives. Her particular areas of focus were leadership programs and women's initiatives at mid and upper levels of management. Prior to working in leadership development, Dori was Director of Content and Programming for AOL Latin America and helped build regional programming and product development teams. Dori is fluent in Spanish and has worked extensively in Latin America.

Dori earned her M.A. in Organizational Psychology from Columbia University, her B.A. degrees in Spanish and Philosophy from Indiana University, and a Certificate in Leadership Coaching from Georgetown University. She has lived in Washington, DC, New York, Miami, Spain and Argentina. She returned to her Midwestern roots several years ago and now makes her home in Evanston, Illinois with her husband and two young daughters.
